NATURE AND SHAMANIC COSMOLOGY: THE LOWER WORLD

Curated by Dores Sacquegna

There is a symbol that tells the millenary history of Salento: it is the pictogram of the DANCING SHAMAN found in the Neolithic Cervi Grotto in Porto Badisco, defined as the Sistine Chapel of Europe for its numerous and best preserved graffiti.

The cave was discovered in 1970 by a speleological group and was initially called Aeneas' s Grotto, because of the legend that narrates the landing of the Heroes after his escape from Troy and written in the third book of the Aeneid.

Shamanism is the oldest form of spiritual and healing practice that through nature, connects human beings with all natural beings in harmony and balance with natural laws. Common to almost all traditional shamanic cultures is the VISION of spiritual reality divided into three worlds: the Lower World, the Middle World and the Upper World.

These three superimposed worlds are connected to each other by the COSMIC TREE that the SHAMAN-ARTIST can use to make a journey into the past and a return to the present, with the creation of poems, sound, performance and site-specific and site inspired contemporary artworks... accompanied by her GUIDE-CURATOR.

This part of the project is dedicated to the Lower World. Detailed info will be sent only to the participants.
